Seaside Heights: Ready For Summer 2014

Governor Christie and Seaside Heights Mayor Bill Akers resolved to restore Seaside Heights, first after Superstorm Sandy and then again after the September 2013 boardwalk fire. Throughout these difficult times for this shore community, Seaside Heights has been one of strongest examples of the resilient spirit of New Jerseyans. The Christie Administration took action to support the community after Superstorm Sandy and again after the fire, providing immediate funding for demolition and debris removal. The Administration also held mobile cabinets and EDA workshops to help affected residents and businesses get their disaster grant and loan applications started and moving through the process.

FLASHBACK: Governor Christie: I'm Forcing Spring To Come, Baby!

BY THE NUMBERS: SEASIDE HEIGHTS RECOVERY SINCE SANDY

$45,573,155	Seaside Heights residents and businesses have received approximately $45.5 million in payouts from the National Flood Insurance Program.
$16,756,533	FEMA has obligated over $16.7 million in federal funds through the Public Assistance program to Seaside Heights (and other municipal entities) for eligible debris removal, emergency services and rebuilding activities.
$12,320,000	Seaside Heights residents have received approximately $12.32 million in FEMA Individual Assistance, which includes repair costs, replacement costs, rental assistance and other needs assistance.
$4,920,000	Seaside Heights has received $4.92 million through the FEMA Community Disaster Loan (CDL) program and Seaside Heights School District received $1.04 million through the program
$2,450,000	The Federal Highway Administration has identified roadway projects in Seaside Heights worth approximately $2.45 million.
$6,220,000	40 Seaside Heights homeowners signed RREM program grants totaling $4.75 million. Approximately 147 Seaside Heights residents received Resettlement grants totaling $1.47 million.
$503,412	EDA Stronger NJ Business Grant has approved 13 grants to Seaside Heights businesses worth $503,412.