STEP into NATURE: Hiking Series

ROEBLING PARK RAMBLE

SATURDAY, MAY 23

9AM - 11AM

Join Dr. Emile DeVito, one of New Jersey's premier biologists and storytellers, on a walk through John A. Roebling Park in Trenton, Mercer County, to discover plants and animals in the midst of springtime activity. The park is part of the Hamilton-Trenton-Bordentown Marsh and hosts a rich variety of plants and animals that live in and migrate through our state's capital.

Learn about this thriving forest in the midst of a city!

Wear comfortable walking shoes and socks, and bring water.

The event is free of charge.

New Jersey Conservation Foundation thanks the Mercer County Park Commission for joint sponsorship of this event.
