MERCER COUNTY

Welcome to Mercer County!

As the Capital County of New Jersey, Mercer County is rich in its history and opportunities, and boasts one of the strongest and most diverse economies in the nation. We continue to build our reputation as a top region for raising a family and growing a business.

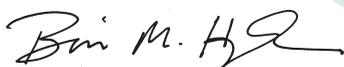

Residents and businesses alike enjoy our proximity to the New York and Philadelphia metropolitan areas. Our transportation systems rival those of any region, with three major train stations along the NJ Transit Northeast Corridor Line; easy access to the New Jersey Turnpike and many major expressways; Trenton-Mercer Airport – a bustling national airport; an extensive bus system; and special transportation resources for older adults and people with physical disabilities.

Our municipal school systems and many prestigious independent schools help to prepare our young residents for success later in life. Higher education institutions such as Princeton University, Rider University, The College of New Jersey, Thomas Edison State University and Mercer County Community College deeply enrich our communities.

Mercer County's park system is second to none, with more than 10,000 acres of open space and recreational facilities. Cultural and historic offerings – museums, theater, art, battle re-enactments and more – add to the wonderful quality of life offered in Mercer County.

I encourage you to use this Guide to help you discover all that Mercer County and its 12 municipalities have to offer, and feel free to visit our website at www.mercercounty.org.

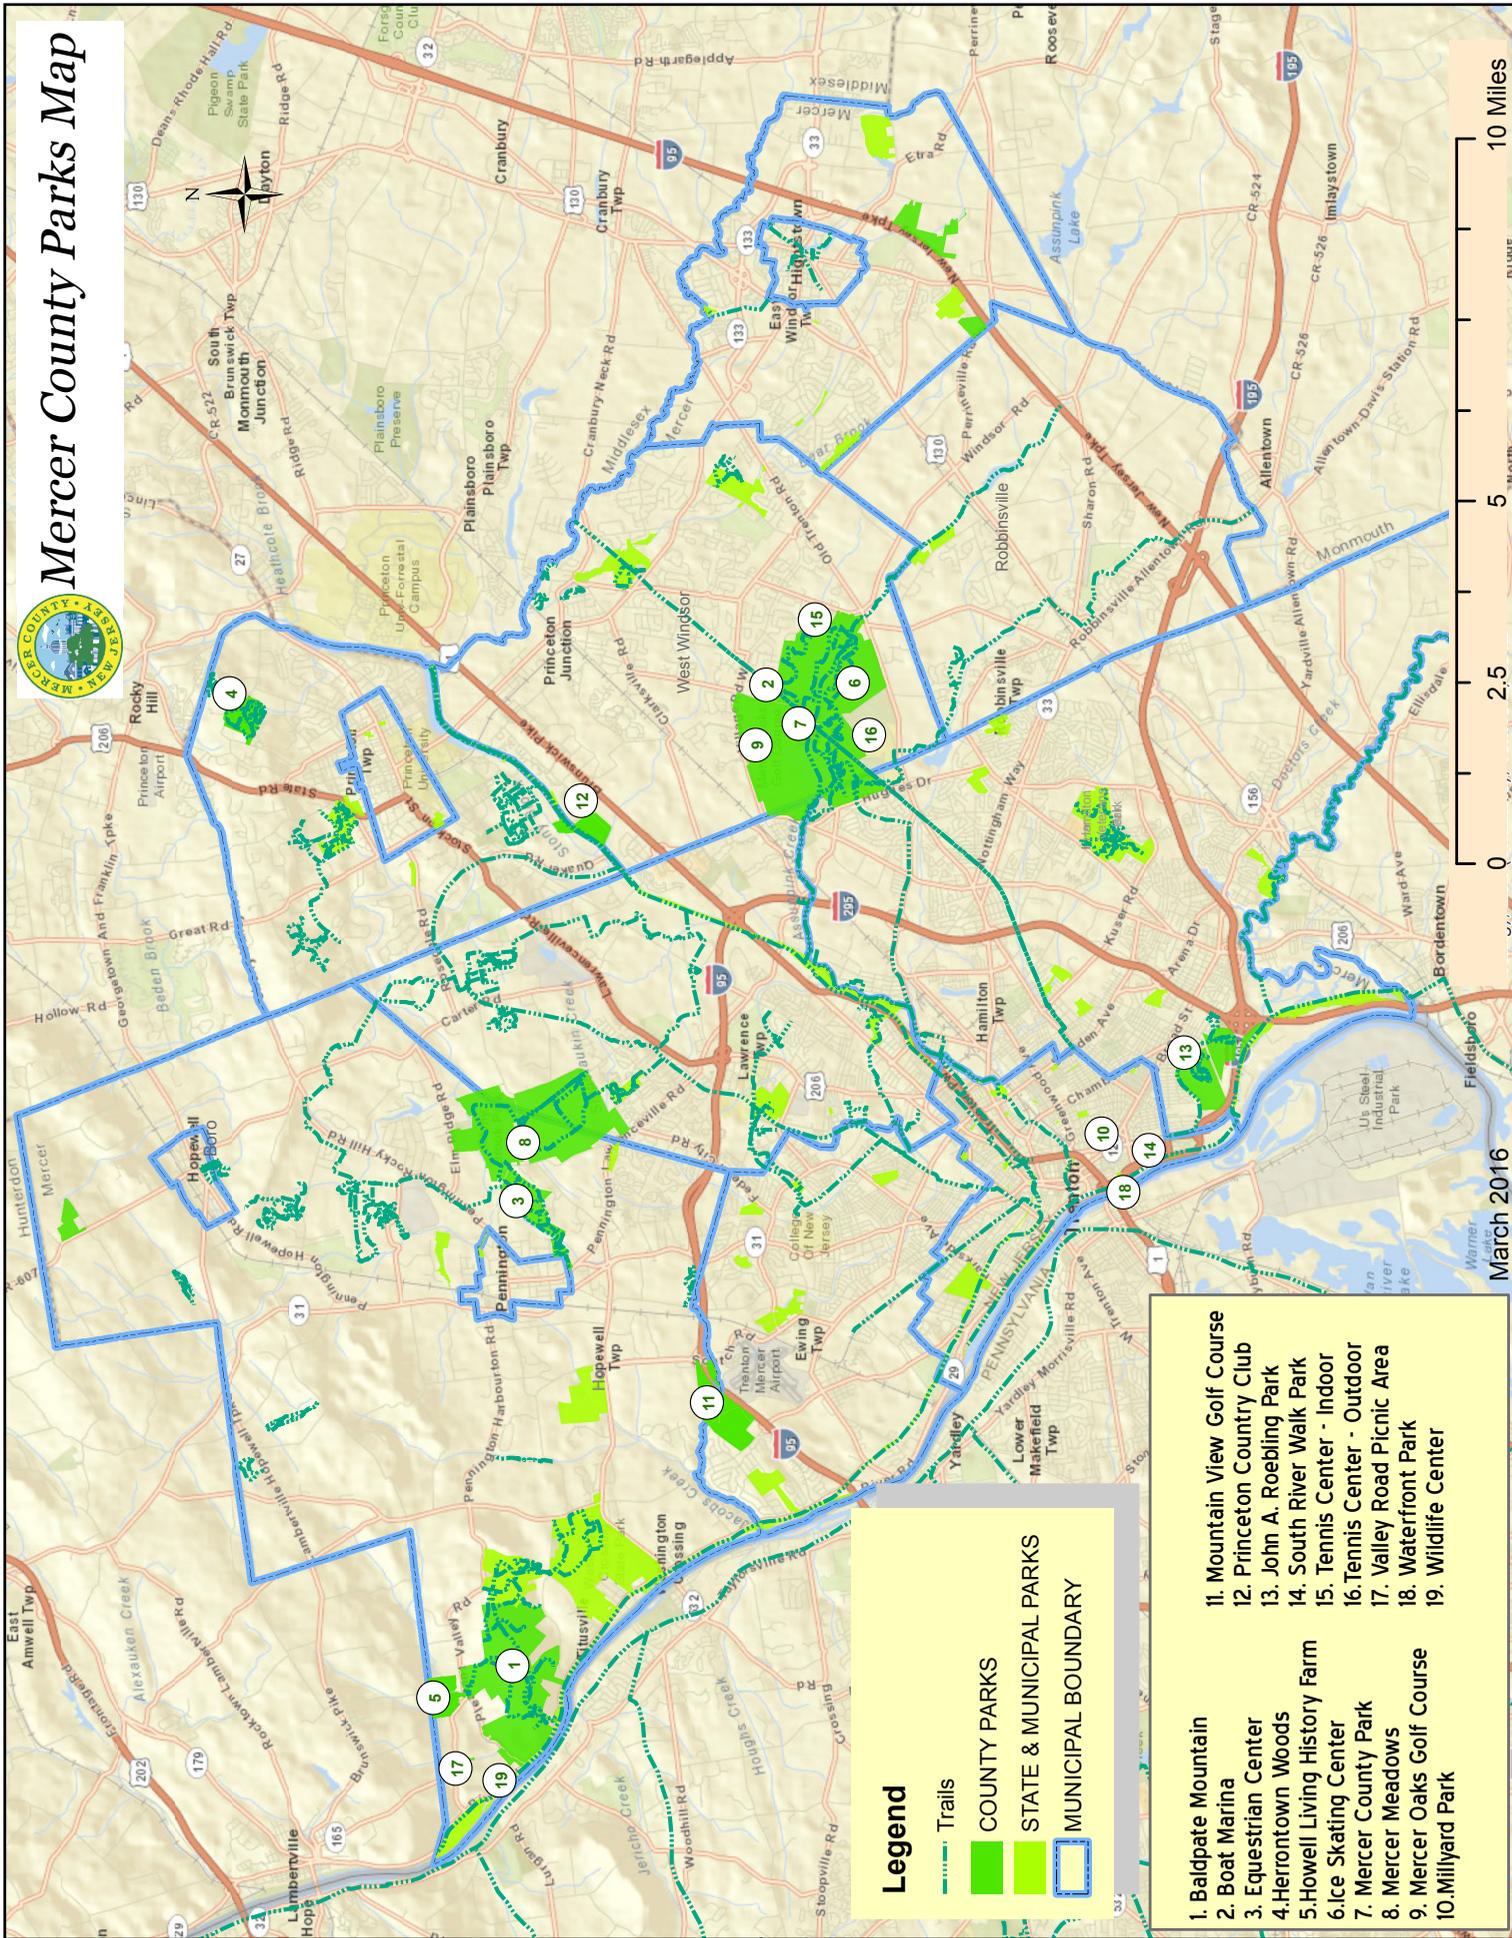

Sincerely,

Brian M. Hughes
County Executive
