

Notice of Breach

On November 13, 2015, the New Jersey Department of Children and Families discovered that one of the State's facilities, known as the Arthur Brisbane Center (ABC), was at times accessible to unauthorized individuals. At this time, we are not aware of the use of any protected health information or personal information for fraud or criminal purposes. One building at ABC housed approximately 350 boxes that contained archived employee payroll and personnel records, and client records of former patients of the child treatment center. The records were immediately moved to a secure location. Our initial review revealed that these records are at least ten years old and marked as closed for archiving and/or marked for destruction.

If you need additional information, including assistance with how to activate a fraud alert, obtain free credit reports or review account activity, please call this number between the hours of 8:30 am to 4:30 pm.
