RE: Facilities with Boilers and/or Heaters registered under General Permit(s) GP006 and/or GP006A

Program Interest #
General Permit #

You are receiving this 2nd General Permit Notification (1st General Permit notification may be reviewed at <http://www.state.nj.us/dep/aqpp/gpupdate.html>) in lieu of your five year renewal notice. The above referenced general permit, registered under General Permit 006 or 006A, is due to expire on _____ and will not be renewable on or after April 2, 2009.

General Permit 017 for boilers and/or heaters less than 5 million BTU/hr, and General Permit 018 for boilers and/or heaters less than 10 million BTU/hr will replace General Permits 006 and 006A on or after April 2, 2009. General Permits 017 and 018 are now available for your reference at <http://www.state.nj.us/dep/aqpp/gpupdate.html> and will be available for your use on or after April 2, 2009 at www.nj.gov/dep/aqpp/gp1list.htm.

You may continue to operate your boilers and/or heaters under your current General Permit 006 or 006A as long as they are in compliance with N.J.A.C. 7:27-19 rule changes summarized in your first (1st) General Permit Notification, until the first of the following events occur:

- Replacement or modification of the boilers and/or heaters registered in your current General Permit 006 or 006A; or
- Expiration of your current General Permit 006 or 006A.

Before the occurrence of either event mentioned above, you must register for General Permit 017 or 018 or apply for a standard Pre-Construction Permit (PCP). Helpful Tip: Both GP-017 and GP-018 allow facilities to register more than one boiler/heater on one registration form. It is recommended that you evaluate your boilers/heaters and re-register all applicable equipment at the same time, which avoids additional registration and fees for equipment with future expiration dates."

Failure to comply with N.J.A.C. 7:27-19 rule changes including annual adjustment as specified at <http://www.state.nj.us/dep/aqpp/adjustment.htm> or improper registration/permitting of boilers and/or heaters will result in enforcement action.

If you need additional information regarding this Notification, please call Sharon Wallace or Mike Adhanom at 609-633-2829.
