

Upcoming Air Compliance & Enforcement Workshop: “CEMS/COMS Electronic EEMPR Submittal Using the New NJDEP Online Portal”

Who is affected by this initiative?

The Air Quality Permitting Program requires facilities that have Continuous Emission Monitoring Systems (CEMS) and/or Continuous Opacity Monitoring Systems (COMS) to submit the Excess Emission and Monitoring Systems Performance Report (EEMPR) electronically. This requirement has also been included in settlement agreements, new air permits, and permit renewals. Those facilities required to submit the EEMPR electronically (eEEMPR) will find this workshop beneficial.

Why would I need help?

As part of the e-government services strategy, the NJDEP Online web portal provides the regulated community a means to submit the eEEMPR. In an effort to coordinate with other State services, the NJDEP Online system was upgraded in October 2007. A myNewJersey Portal account is now required in order to access NJDEP's online services. The myNewJersey site gives direct access to a variety of online resources and the content can be customized based on personal and business preferences. If you attended the Department's workshop in June 2006 on eEEMPR, it would still be beneficial to you to attend this workshop since the way in which you access, navigate and submit the eEEMPR has changed.

What compliance assistance is available?

The Department is providing a free workshop on how to use the new NJDEP Online web portal for submitting your eEEMPR. This workshop will also provide a step by step presentation of the eEEMPR submittal process. In addition, this workshop will show you how to setup your new myNewJersey account as well as how to navigate the new portal. Two (2) identical workshop schedules are available – Monday, January 14, 2008 and Thursday, January 17, 2008 (you ONLY need to attend one) from 9:00 a.m. to 12 noon at the
