

Commercial and Private Pesticide Applicators Can Track their Recertification Course History Online

Who is affected by this advisory?

All licensed commercial and private pesticide applicators may benefit from this online report.

Why is DEP issuing this advisory?

The Department is issuing this advisory to inform all licensed commercial and private pesticide applicators that they can now access and track their pesticide recertification course history online.

What should I do?

If you are a New Jersey licensed pesticide applicator, you may now access your recertification course history online by visiting the Licensing and Pesticide Operations Links page and selecting the applicable link. In order to view your training history you will need to supply your license number, date of birth and last four digits of your social security number.

What is DEP doing?

The Department is committed to creating new methods to better serve the regulated community. This report provides commercial and private pesticide applicators with online access to their recertification course history information, allowing them to more easily track their courses and credit units throughout the five year recertification period and helping them to stay up-to-date on required training.

Who should I contact with questions?

For questions pertaining to pesticide training, please contact the Bureau of Licensing and Pesticide Operations at (609) 984-6507.

Where can I get more information?
