

Antler Ridge Wildlife Sanctuary is a wildlife rehabilitation center that provides care to orphaned or injured wild life. We are licensed by the state of New Jersey to care for Fawns, Raccoon, Skunks Opossums, Squirrels, Rabbits, Woodchucks, Bears, Foxes, Porcupines and other small mammals. In 2014 Antler Ridge Wildlife Sanctuary was given a license to rehabilitate Black Bear, we are the second facility to be given this opportunity to support the welfare and rehabilitation of such a significant species. In 2016 a citizen brought us a nest of squirrels and one of them turned out to be an albino squirrel (see picture below).

The Sanctuary a 120 acre preserved farm is located in Warren County, New Jersey. They are a 501©3 nonprofit organization, entirely supported by public donations and volunteers.

The mission of Antler Ridge Wildlife Sanctuary is to provide care and treatment to sick, injured or orphaned wild animals. Rehabilitate them back to their wild state so they can be returned to the wild. To actively educate the public to care for the ecosystems and support the environment in which they live and the wildlife they share it with. To protect and preserve our native lands for the future wildlife habitat. We are staffed by over 60 volunteers and provide internships for students, and have 5 licensed rehabbers on staff. We rehabilitate over 1000 animals a year and provide a wide range of community service programs for school children and community events.

About the Farm

Antler Ridge Farm was purchased by Jim and Kelly Simonetti in 2000, the farm is under the farm land preservation program of New Jersey. This mean the 120 acre is preserved and can never be developed. Over the years some of the land has been restored to the original farming fields and the rest is being maintained as a wildlife sanctuary. Under the guidance and direction of several agencies such as the Audubon society, tree farm stewardship and ridge and valley conversation the ongoing efforts will help maintain and continue to the nurture the flora and fauna native to New Jersey. The loss of habitat in New Jersey has put a tremendous strain on the wildlife populations; and has forced the animals to live in conditions they are unable to adapt to.

MIDNIGHT BANDITS WILDLIFE REHABILITATION CENTER

Hi, my name is Debbie Hadu I am a licensed wildlife rehabilitator and owner of Midnight Bandits Wildlife Rehabilitation Center which is located in Maplewood, Essex County. I am dedicated to the understanding, protection, and preservation of our wildlife neighbors. Midnight Bandits cares for small mammals (Raccoons, Skunks, Ground hogs, Squirrels, Opossums) that the local residents commonly encounter. Through public education, rehabilitation and release, we as humans can happily co-exist.

I am a small operation due to space, but take in many lost souls. I deal in adult raccoons & opossums that are in need of help. Funds and supplies are low.

I can use the following:

Wee-wee pads

Snuggles- heating disks

Incubator large or small size

Grooming shears (thick coats)

Frontline – cats

Nest Boxes – Squirrels & Raccoons

Mixed Nuts (unsalted)

THANK YOU.

Turtle Rescue of New Jersey

Wildlife rehabilitation is filled with joy, heartache, challenges, and the absolutely breathtaking fulfillment of releasing healthy animals back to the wild. Every time we heal an animal, educate a rescuer, or help a child see the wonder in wildlife, we have an opportunity to change the world.

Turtle Rescue of New Jersey (TRONJ) has spent 18 years caring for turtles – those fabulous, fascinating creatures that have been around for 200 million years. We provide medical treatment for ill, injured, or abused turtles, both native and non-native. We also educate people about turtles and tortoises to improve their care and treatment. Simply put, TRONJ wants to make the world a better place for turtles.

TRONJ is located in Hardwick, New Jersey, and is the only wildlife rehabilitation facility in New Jersey that is dedicated exclusively to turtles and tortoises. Turtles from all over New Jersey are brought to us – turtles with fractured shells from car hits, trampled by horses, fishhooks embedded in their throats, that have lost limbs to lawn mowers, turtles from horrific abuse situations, and dozens of other cases. At the end of all of this comes the greatest joy of wildlife rehabilitation – releasing a healthy animal back to the wild!

Thank you so much for wanting to help wildlife rehabilitators! For more information, please contact me at Harriet@TRONJ.org or 908-362-7747.

676 County Road 513 Pittstown, NJ 08867 P (908) 730-8300 F (908) 730-8311
www.woodlandswildlife.org

Purpose of the organization:

Woodlands Wildlife Refuge, Inc. (Woodlands) is a wildlife rehabilitation facility dedicated to receiving, rehabilitating, and releasing orphaned and injured wildlife and educating the public about wildlife habits and habitats. New Jersey's wild and human communities will both benefit from the ongoing efforts of Woodlands Wildlife Refuge. Annually we serve over 800 members of the general public state wide which results in the intake of over 1000 animals. Our wildlife advice hotline is available 7 days a week and is used annually by thousands of people looking for assistance with orphaned and injured wildlife or wildlife concerns. Annually we provide over 30 educational programs to a variety of community organizations.

Since its inception in 1986 over 15,000 animals have been cared for. Woodlands is recognized internationally for its black bear rehabilitation and release program which it initiated in 1995. As the only facility in the state licensed to rehabilitate endangered venomous snakes and endangered bobcats, and as the primary bear rehabilitation facility, the services we provide are essential to the general public's unexpected encounters with wildlife. The Division of Fish and Wildlife, animal professionals, and New Jersey's wildlife depend on our services. In fact, since 2008 the number of wild patients admitted to Woodlands has increased by 59%. Woodlands has remained determined to never turn away an animal in need, and to continued growth to meet those needs.
