PROGRAM:

This small school district is located in the smallest municipality in Somerset County. Our students benefit from a small school experience that allows them individual attention and alternative learning experiences. Many of these experiences center around the school's proximity to the D and R canal, the historic water route across central New Jersey. Environmental science, water safety, and history are taught there, and the school has kayaks that are used in physical education classes. Students also serve as historical docents at the nearby Abraham Statts House. Technology is also a focus, and the school is equipped with Smartboards, iPads, Kindles, LIP cameras and iPods.
