What should I do if I am denied Medicaid or SSI because my income or resources are too high?

You should inquire about your eligibility for New Jersey Care...Special Medicaid Program or New Jersey WorkAbility.

What should I do if I lose my SSI and Medicaid coverage because I begin receiving Social Security Benefits on my parent's account and/or there was an increase in those benefits?

You may be eligible to continue receiving Medicaid benefits as a "1634 Disabled Adult Child" (DAC) if you meet the following criteria: (1) You are at least 18 years old; (2) You have become disabled or blind prior to age 22; (3) You have been receiving SSI on the basis of your disability; and (4) You have lost SSI as a result of your parent's insurance benefits under Social Security or as a result of an increase in those benefits.

If you have a letter from the Social Security Administration (SSA) verifying that you are eligible for DAC status, to your County Welfare Agencies (CWA) for consideration of Medicaid eligibility under the DAC status. If you do not have any documentation verifying that you are eligible for DAC status, it is recommended that you contact SSA and obtain a letter prior to going to your CWA.

What should I do if I lose my SSI and Medicaid coverage because of receiving SSDI resulting in my income exceeding the SSI income limit?

You may be eligible to continue receiving Medicaid benefits through the New Jersey Care...Special Medicaid Program option or New Jersey WorkAbility. You should contact your County Welfare Agency (CWA) and schedule an appointment to complete the application. Be sure to take the required documents with you.

Once I have been determined eligible for Medicaid, is that determination permanent?

No. If your income, resources or living arrangements change at any time, it may affect your eligibility. Both Medicaid and SSI conduct eligibility redeterminations on an ongoing basis to verify that you remain eligible. It is imperative that you comply with all redeterminations as failure to do so may cause your benefits to be suspended or terminated.

If I lose my Medicaid eligibility, will I still be able to access the Supports Program?

No. You will not be able to access the Supports Program unless you maintain Medicaid eligibility.
