Now you can achieve even more

If you're someone with a permanent disability, you're used to overcoming obstacles. Now you've got one less hurdle to deal with.

Thanks to a new program, called NJ WorkAbility, you're free to go for that job, aim for that raise, and get your career in gear. Without having to worry about losing your Medicaid health coverage.

Who is eligible?

The qualifications for NJ WorkAbility are fairly simple. Basically, the program is open to all New Jersey residents who:

- Are between the ages of 16 and 64
- Have a permanent physical or mental disability
- Are employed either full- or part-time

If you believe you meet the guidelines and would like more information, please call the NJ Division of Disability Services toll-free at 1-888-285-3036.

Earn approximately $55,000 annually

With NJ WorkAbility, you can now earn as much as $55,000 a year and still be fully eligible for Medicaid health coverage. You can also have up to $20,000 in personal assets, such as a bank account, and still qualify.

This is more than it may seem, because the Medicaid definition of "assets" does NOT include:

- The home you live in
- Vehicles used for medical transportation
- Vehicles used for transportation to and from work
- IRA and 401K personal retirement accounts

It doesn't matter how much any of these things are worth—NJ WorkAbility won't count them as personal assets.
