State-of-the-art Guard Maintenance Facility Opens

Sgt. Landis Andrews, 444th MPAD

MANCHESTER TWP. – The inside is big enough to play a professional football game and its maintenance bays are crammed with enough gleaming new equipment to keep the New Jersey National Guard's massive fleet of vehicles ready to roll in a moment's notice.

But, Lt. Gov. Kim Guadagno said the National Guard's $58 million Combined Logistics Training Facility on Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst is far more than an impressive new structure that was 12 years in the making.

"This building was built with blood, sweat and tears and the hope that all of America will be safer because of the work that will go on here," Guadagno said on Dec. 1.

The first phase of the project, which includes 16 maintenance bays and more than 110,000 square feet of work space, opened that day with a ribbon cutting ceremony that included Guadagno, Congressman-elect Jon Runyan and Maj. Gen. Glenn K. Rieth, the Adjutant General.

The state-of-the-art building, off Route 539, will improve productivity for mechanics across the New Jersey National Guard. The facility will consolidate operations from two smaller, aging facilities. Next year, a second phase of construction will add an additional 56,000 square feet of work space.

Combined, the projects are one of the largest military construction projects in

New Jersey in the last 15 years.

Sgt. Lauano Bell said he couldn't wait to start work at his new duty station.

"I was there when they first started planning this building, and they really had the technicians in mind," Bell said. "Looking at the finished product, they really got it right."

Rieth said Soldiers like Bell will have no shortage of work.

"Over the past five years, we have received 565 new, state-of-the-art military vehicles," Rieth said. "What this building is going to allow us to do is maintain those vehicles to the highest standard."

With round-the-clock capability, this building was designed to repair all ground vehicles and ground support equipment, such as generators, weapons and electronic devices. The bays, individually equipped with oil stations, are divided evenly throughout both sides of the garage specifically for drive-through ability.

"If there is a requirement to be called out by our governor, we will be the best military first responders," Rieth said. "And, if the nation calls for an overseas deployment, our soldiers will be there, at the highest level of readiness, thanks to this new building."

VA Offers 'Vet Handbook'

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs is piloting new, personalized Veterans Health Benefits Handbooks. The handbooks are tailored to provide enrolled Veterans with the most relevant health benefits information based on their own specific eligibility. In essence, each handbook will be written for the individual veteran.

"These handbooks will give veterans everything they need to know and leave out everything that doesn't apply to them," said Secretary of Veterans Affairs Eric K. Shinseki. "Our veterans will now have a comprehensive, easy-to-understand roadmap to the medical benefits they earned with their service."

In addition to highlighting each veteran's specific health benefits, the handbook also provides contact information for the Veteran's preferred local facility, ways to schedule personal appointments, guidelines for communicating treatment needs and an explanation of the Veteran's responsibilities, such as copayments.

The new handbooks will initially be available only to certain veterans in Cleveland and Washington, D.C., areas. Following the pilot phase, full implementation is scheduled to begin in the fall of 2011 for across the county.

For additional information, go to www.va.gov/healtheligibility, or call VA's toll-free number at 1-877-222-VETS (8387).

Military mentors wanted

The National Guard Bureau is looking for military officers (O-1 through O-4) to be mentors for the 2011 Senate Youth Program. The program, instituted in 1962 by U.S. Senate Resolution and held annually in Washington, D.C., is designed to give the nation's top-rated high school seniors a working knowledge of American politics through personal interaction with high-level government agencies and officials. Military mentors serve as counselors, facilitators and role models for the 104 students (two from each state and territory), giving them a better understanding of defense missions, personnel and lifestyle. For more information about the program, visit the U.S. Senate Youth Program website at <http://www.ussenateyouth.org>.

Military mentor officers who are selected must be on Permissive TDY or leave status for the duration of the program to include two days of pre-program training. Inclusive dates of the program Mar. 3-12, 2011 (Senior and Assistant Senior Mentor Officers will be required to attend additional days of training beginning on Monday, 28 February).

The Hearst Foundation, which sponsors the program, will pay for lodging, meals, and incidental costs such as laundry and dry-cleaning.

Officers who have participated in the past are eligible and encouraged to participate in the 2011 program. The volunteer Military mentors are responsible for their own transportation costs to get to and from Washington, D.C.

TO APPLY: Carefully read the Senate Youth Program Military Mentor Information and Nomination documents. The second and third pages of the attachment explain the criteria for Military Mentor officers and Senior Mentors and explain in detail exactly how to assemble a Nomination Package.

The Senior and Assistant Senior Mentor slots will be filled by volunteers who have served as a Senate Youth Mentor in a previous year.

Two key items in the nomination package to ensure are correct:

1) The Military supervisor letter of recommendation must contain a statement that, if selected, the nominee will be available to participate in all Senate Youth program functions from 3 - 12 March, which includes the required two days of Mentor training. That letter can be addressed to Ms. Peg Moffett, National Guard Bureau Public Affairs.

2) The second item that is frequently not fulfilled correctly is the required photograph. Ensure that your photo is a full-length pose and you are in service dress. It does not need to be a professional, "official" military photo; it does need to be detailed and large enough to determine military appearance.

DEADLINE: Nomination packages must be submitted electronically to Margaret.Moffett@us.army.mil no later than Dec. 14. If you have any questions, please contact Peg for further information via e-mail or at DSN 327-2614 (Commercial: 703-607-2614).

The final selection of Mentor Officers and Senior Mentor Officers will take place by Jan. 21, 2011.

It's nearly time to Wassail

Mark your calendars DMAVA employees, it's time to Wassail on Tuesday, Dec. 14 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Share in the holiday treats, do some decorating with your colleagues and maybe even join in a rousing rendition of The Hippopotamus Song.

The celebration itself dates back to 15th century England, or earlier, and it is a tradition meant to celebrate and promote health, wealth and good fortune.

The history of The Hippopotamus Song is a little more recent.

According to Wikipedia.com, songwriter John Rox wrote "I Want a Hippopotamus For Christmas" and the song became a national sensation in 1953 after Gayla Peevey, a popular child singer in Oklahoma City recorded the song. Not only did the song hit the top of the charts, a local promoter launched a campaign to present Peevey with a hippopotamus, which she donated to the city zoo. The beast was named Matilda and lived for nearly 50 years.

With all that tradition behind us, it's time for Wassailing.

The United States Army Warrant Officer Association, Fort Dix Doughboy Chapter, is looking for members. For membership information, contact Chief Warrant Officer Nancy E. Rowbotham at nancy.rowbotham@us.army.mil.
