Baseline Document Change Announcement

CPM Construction Scheduling Standard Coding and Procedures For Designers and Contractors Manual

BDC01T-5

February 26, 2002

Subject: Release of the Capital Program Management Construction Scheduling Standard Coding and Procedures For Designers and Contractors Manual

Reference: Refer to BDC01S-12 dated February 27, 2002 and BDC01PR-3 dated February 28, 2002 for related information

The Capital Program Management Construction Scheduling Standard Coding and Procedures For Designers and Contractors Manual is a new publication. It is hereby issued as a stand-alone document that is to be used by designers and contractors to produce construction schedules using a common methodology. The manual has been developed for use on both English and metric unit projects.

Instructions to Project Managers:

This manual will be included in the list of referenced documents in all future consultant agreements for design. Additionally, the Consultant Agreement for any project under design that is developed using the 2001 metric or English units Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction shall be modified to include the use of this manual for developing construction schedules.

Instructions to Designers and Contractors:

This BDC is one of three BDCs for developing and processing of construction schedules. The other two BDCs, BDC01S-12 (dated 2/27/02) and BDC01PR-3 (dated 2/28/02), are for the revised specifications and Department Procedures manual, respectively.

The requirements of these three BDCs shall be followed by designers and contractors to develop construction schedules for projects that are designed using either the Department's 2001 metric or English units Standard Specifications for Road and Bridge Construction.
