New Jersey Civil Service Commission Releases Updated Online Application System

TRENTON, NJ - The New Jersey Civil Service Commission (CSC) has released a new, updated version of the Online Application System (OAS).

The new application allows users to create a profile similar to most modern web-based applications. This update streamlines the application process and eliminates the need to repeatedly enter the same information. It also allows users to review outstanding job applications, revise outdated information, and/or select a new job announcement from the current list of job vacancies. The previous version of the OAS application required applicants to apply for individual job announcements separately, which often required entering the same information multiple times.

"The Civil Service Commission wants to help make entry into public employment in New Jersey as smooth as possible," said Allison Chris Myers, Chair/CEO of the New Jersey Civil Service Commission. "We realize that certain application processes for State, county, and municipal positions may have been confusing and outdated. With the release of our updated OAS, we aim to modernize this process to better serve those who want to serve our State."

"This newly enhanced version of the OAS platform will have a positive impact on public service job seekers in New Jersey," said Scott Nance, Director of CSC's Division of Agency Services. "Our updates make the application process more accessible and efficient."

Applicants can now create a user profile and login directly to their account using the following link: <https://info.csc.state.nj.us/OAS/Account/Login>.
