Applications Open for New Jersey Civil Service Commission's Entry-Level Law Enforcement Exam (LEE)

TRENTON, NJ - The New Jersey Civil Service Commission (CSC) announced on March 1, 2024, that applications are open for the entry-level law enforcement exam (LEE) and will be accepted until Monday, April 1, 2024, at 4:00 PM.

"CSC is pleased to share that 130 jurisdictions and three State departments opted in for the 2024 LEE cycle, which is indicative of many job opportunities for New Jerseyans interested in rewarding careers in law enforcement," said Allison Chris Myers, Chair & Chief Executive Officer of CSC. "And a reduced application fee of $30, is another incentive for interested individuals to apply."

The CSC website's entry-level public safety titles page details everything a prospective candidate needs to apply, prepare, and test for the LEE. The LEE will be administered this summer, with results anticipated before the end of the calendar year.

"This is a great opportunity for individuals interested in serving their community and pursuing a rewarding career in law enforcement," said Scott Nance, Director, Division of Agency Services, CSC.

CSC is committed to ensuring career opportunities in law enforcement are accessible to a broad and diverse range of communities. . To support these efforts, CSC is offering a free preparatory course designed to assist applicants in preparing for the Law Enforcement Examination (LEE). Since the launch of the preparatory course in October 2022, approximately 5600 individuals have registered for the course. Additional information on outreach and programs is available on the Office of Diversity Programs webpage.

"The Division of Test Development, Analytics, and Administration is looking forward to administering the LEE later this year," said Ryan Reinert, Director, Division of Test Development, Analytics, and Administration, CSC. "Candidates will once again be able to self-select their testing site from several community colleges throughout the state. More information regarding site selection will be sent to candidates after the conclusion of the application filing period."
