Question Corner: What is your favorite summertime dish?

The blueberries that my husband and I hand pick from our 5 shrubs in the yard. We've been blessed to keep the birds off the berries and picked 41quarts so far this summer that we have shared with neighbors, friends, co-workers, and relatives. I've enjoyed making blueberry pancakes, tea cakes, muffins, jam and infused vodka, and to the delight of those we share these treats with.

For me, summer means using the grill. A simple summer classic like cheeseburger sliders,grilled corn, and some fresh watermelon is a perfect summer meal.

It may sound odd, but every year, my mom's place of employment closed down during the first two weeks of July. That gave her some free time to bake. And for a few days every summer, we would eat homemade cinnamon rolls for breakfast.
