

Reentering the Workforce After an Extended Absence?

We can help!

Displaced Homemaker Programs help individuals who have worked in the home for a number of years and, as a result of various circumstances, including divorce, separation, death of a spouse, disability of a spouse, or domestic violence, now find themselves as the primary source of household income.

Displaced Homemaker Programs help to enhance employability and earnings of qualified participants through supportive counseling, educational training, job readiness, and emotional support.
