SUBJECT: "Take Our Children to Work Day," April 28, 2010

The New Jersey Department of Education encourages school districts to participate in "Take Our Children to Work Day" activities by giving students credit for attendance and affording them an opportunity to discuss what they have learned once they return to school. In previous years, the day has been a success due to the cooperative efforts of thousands of parents, schools, businesses, organizations and other concerned individuals who demonstrated their interest in children's education and participation in the work force.
