JPEF E-Learning Success Stories

1. Ethics of War

The ethics of war are confusing. Help your students look honestly at concepts of resistance, revenge and ethics using this 45-60 minute lesson. Includes an engaging short-play, which can be used without any advanced preparation. Great for classrooms, youth groups and informal education.

Most students don't know that tens of thousands of Jews—many of them teens—fought back against the Nazis in armed resistance groups as Jewish partisans. Millions more engaged in unarmed resistance. Inspire and educate your students through their history.

The New Jersey Holocaust commission will offer CE units for every hour successfully completed. To get your credits: Just download and email your printable certificate of completion to Dr. Paul Winkler at holocaust@doe.state.nj.us

Topics Include:
