General Information

---

The New Jersey Health Claim Analysis and Processing (NJ HealthCAP) application uses the inpatient and outpatient Medicare Code Editor, National Correct Coding Initiative (NCCI), and Medically Unlikely Edits (MUE) guidelines to perform a variety of clinical content edit verifications, including but not limited to:

- Invalid Diagnosis or Procedure Code
- E-Code as Principal Diagnosis
- Duplicate of Principal Diagnosis Code
- Age Conflict (based on Diagnosis and Procedure Codes)
- Sex Conflict (based on Diagnosis and Procedure Codes)

Edit Types

This section identifies the edit types in NJ HealthCAP.

Fatal Edits

Fatal Edits are those edits that indicate that the data in a required field is either missing or incorrect. Users must change the data in that field (or a related field, in the case of relational edits) to a valid entry for the edit to clear. The claim will not be accepted into the data warehouse if there are any fatal edits remaining. The edits have the following characteristics:

- Fatal edits can be both standard and relational.
- Standard edits indicate the data within that field is invalid or missing. For example, the Patient Control Number field is blank.
- Relational edits verify that data in two or more fields match the edit requirements. For example, the patient's diagnosis is for females only, but the designated gender is male.

Verifiable Edits

Verifiable edits are warnings that alert the user that an unexpected condition exists that requires verification. An example of this type of edit is a patient's length of stay exceeding 365 days.

The logic used to process a Verifiable Edit is identical to the logic used for Fatal Edit with the exception that a single-byte field is associated with each Verifiable Edit. It is used to hold the confirmation state of the warning.

The edit condition will continue to be triggered until one of the following occurs:

- The user confirms the warning is a true situation and not an error.
- The user changes the value of the discharge date (updating the LOS), thus failing the statement Length of Stay is > 365

Third-Party Software Edits

In addition to State Edits, claims are processed through state-of-the art third-party software applications that are licensed to provide inpatient DRG groups and APC categories. PCG can configure select edits for outpatient claims. However, due to the system design of these software applications, this ability does not extend to inpatient claims. As a result, certain claim edits may be generated that are not correctable by providers without changing data.

You may find that Medicare and other third payors do not use these grouper edits, as they configure their systems to match to control which edits are applied to your claims through their proprietary claim processing software. Any claim errored for the following edit may not be easily corrected by providers without a data change.

1. Questionable Admission – Access the following link for a list of diagnosis codes that will trigger a Questionable Admission error in 2024: 2024 Questionable As Principal Diagnosis ICD-10-CM Codes \(icd10data.com\)
