

DTB Partners

NJ has developed critical partnerships and working relationships between:

- NJ State Police
 - Office of Emergency Management
- Department of Health
- Department of Homeland Security and Preparedness
- NJ Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster
- American Red Cross
- Salvation Army
- Public Health
- Emergency Managers
- First Responders
- County Mental Health Administrators
- County Offices of Emergency Management
- Academic Institutions

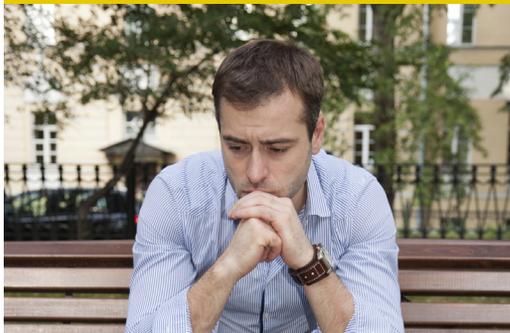

Become a Disaster Response Crisis Counselor (DRCC)

State of New Jersey
Chris Christie, Governor
Kim Guadagno, Lt. Governor

Department of Human Services
Elizabeth Connolly, Acting Commissioner

A Program of the
NJ Department of Human Services
Division of Mental Health and Addiction Services

About the Disaster and Terrorism Branch

The Division of Mental Health and Addiction Services (DMHAS) within the New Jersey Department of Human Services (NJ DHS), houses a highly specialized behavioral health Disaster and Terrorism Branch (DTB). DTB is responsible for administering, as well as directly providing, emergency response behavioral health programs to assist the citizens of New Jersey. The Branch has the capacity to provide ongoing and on-demand training for emergency responders from many backgrounds including, but not limited to behavioral health, human services, first responders, health care, public health, emergency management and faith based organizations, to further increase the state's capacity to address the psychosocial needs of communities affected by disasters and overwhelming events.

Responses have included declared disasters:

- September 11th
- Anthrax Postal System Attacks
- Hurricane Floyd
- Hurricane Ivan along the Delaware River
- Tropical Storm Irene
- SuperStorm Sandy

Also non-declared disasters:

- Seton Hall Dormitory Fire
- Edison Gas Line Explosion
- Haitian Earthquake

What is a Disaster Response Crisis Counselor?

New Jersey is one of the first states to certify its behavioral health responders in preparation for response to disasters and traumatic events. The development of a cadre of paraprofessionals and professionals enhances the capability of activating a timely and effective behavioral health response. A Disaster Response Crisis Counselor (DRCC) is a volunteer who becomes part of an Emergency Response Network and responds to the needs of communities in the event that a disaster strikes. The DRCC's are trained in disaster response, disaster behavioral health and crisis counseling, among other topics and they collaborate with the various response partners who participate in the statewide emergency response network.

The DRCC does not need to have a clinical background as the crisis counseling program does not provide traditional mental health services.

The training will provide the technical support and knowledge needed to become a DRCC emphasizing psychological first aid and information and referral services.

To Become a Disaster Response Crisis Counselor

The credentialing process consists of a series of steps including the application, the submission of references, and possible interviews. Participants are also required to attend designated training and to undergo fingerprinting and background checks.

You must complete the 5 required trainings listed below to apply to become a DRCC.

1. Introduction to Disaster Behavioral Health and Crisis Counseling
2. Ethical Issues in Crisis Response
3. National Incident Management System

(NIMS 700)/Incident Command System (ICS 100; Note: NIMS and ICS training can be taken on-line.

4. Cultural Diversity in the Provision of Disaster Mental Health Services
5. Psychological First Aid

For more information or to apply go to:

www.njdrcc.org

You can also contact your County Mental Health Administrator for more information.