MEDICAID COMMUNICATION NO: 91-18

DATE: July 16, 1991

TO: County Welfare Agency Directors
Medically Needy/New Jersey Care Units

SUBJECT: Changes in Processing Presumptive Eligibility Cases
Effective: August 1, 1991

As you know, a proposal for the Division of Medical Assistance and Health Services to assume responsibility for establishing temporary eligibility records for presumptively eligible pregnant women has been in the planning stages for the past several months. I am pleased to announce that this proposal will be ready to implement on August 1, 1991. This initiative is part of the Division's ongoing effort to be sensitive to the responsibilities imposed by program changes, and the corresponding strain on your resources, and to provide as much relief and assistance as possible.

There may be no obvious change in the number and types of documents which come to your office from the presumptive eligibility providers; however, what will change is how they will be handled. The providers will continue to forward a copy of the FD-334 (Certification of Presumptive Eligibility), which will now be canary rather than pink, and an FD-335 (face page of the New Jersey Care Pregnant Women and Infants Application). These will now be used by your agency to identify those individuals who will need an appointment for an interview. You may have noticed that the newer FD-334 is already in circulation. It was printed just as the supply of older forms was exhausted. Please continue to handle this document as before until the new procedures are effective.

The presumptive eligibility Medicaid identification number will be assigned by the Division of Medical Assistance and Health Services, and the initial card will be mailed from a central location. You will not be required to contact the provider until final disposition of each case has been completed. Instead, you will receive an acknowledgment similar to the one which is sent to the provider. It will contain the woman's presumptive eligibility number or, if she is already a Medicaid recipient, her current regular Medicaid number. Of course, you may continue to contact either the applicant or the provider if you require any information concerning the final Medicaid determination.

The changeover will be effective depending upon the date of the presumptive eligibility determination, rather than the date of receipt. Therefore, any case you receive which has a presumptive eligibility determination date prior to August 1, 1991, may be completed with the procedures now in effect.

This will also apply to any pending presumptive eligibility cases which may exist. Any case which is sent to your agency containing a determination date later than August 1, 1991, must be forwarded to:

and Health Services

ATTENTION: Presumptive Eligibility Records Unit

A further change will be in the way final dispositions are reported and monitoring reports are submitted. Attached is a revised FD-373 to report the final disposition of each presumptive eligibility case. This form may be modified to include your agency's letterhead or it may be translated into a computerized document, but it must contain all of the information on the specimen form. It is extremely important that this document be used for all presumptive eligibility cases evaluated by a provider after August 1, 1991, and that a copy be forwarded to both the provider and the Division of Medical Assistance and Health Services.

If this document is completed and submitted at the appropriate times, with a copy to the Division of Medical Assistance and Health Services' address at the bottom of the page, the need to submit the monthly monitoring reports to the Office to Eligibility Policy and Operations will also be eliminated, beginning with the October submittals. It is hoped that the automated system which will assign presumptive eligibility numbers, issue Medicaid cards, and generate acknowledgments to your office and to the providers, will also be able to collect the statistics needed for monitoring. This will depend a great deal upon the new procedures being followed. In the event of outstanding dispositions, a report will be forwarded to you regularly, requesting dispositions on those cases which are overdue.

Another significant change which will take place in accordance with changes in federal regulations, is the length of the presumptive eligibility period. There will no longer be a fixed 45-day presumptive eligibility period. Instead, in most cases, the pregnant woman's eligibility begins on the day of her presumptive eligibility determination and ends on the last day of the following month; unless a determination of eligibility or ineligibility is made.

If the pregnant woman has contacted the county to arrange for final determination and the county has not scheduled an appointment or made such a determination within the presumptive eligibility period, however, we are now required to extend that eligibility period until such time as the county is able to make a final determination. You will note that the disposition document contains space to indicate that a woman's application remains pending at the end of the initial period. Such cases may be extended for an additional month, with submittal of another disposition required at the end of the additional time period. For this reason, it is important to submit the dispositions in a timely manner. Of course, if a final determination has been completed, the presumptive eligibility number must be terminated and the termination date should be indicated on the disposition form.

Attached also are samples of the letters which will be used in the new process. Each number issued to identify a presumptive eligibility recipient will begin with the usual county code (01 to 21) and program code (30). The two digits which follow will always be "99", with the next four digits being sequentially assigned for each county, beginning with "0001". The person number, of course, will remain 05. If any county has already issued an identification number of 99----, with program code 30, kindly advise the Presumptive Eligibility Records Unit immediately. If you have been planning to use this number series for any reason, please consider alternatives. To further assist your staff with this process, comprehensive Presumptive Eligibility Operational Guidelines, similar to those distributed to providers, will be forwarded to the New Jersey Care Units under separate cover, together with updated New Jersey Care Manuals. It is hoped that this material can be distributed within the next few weeks.

As always, your continued cooperation and assistance in this effort will be greatly appreciated and will ensure that these changes will work for the benefit of all. If your staff has any questions, either now or after implementation, they may contact Nancy Scarlata at the Office of Eligibility Policy and Operations (609) 588-2556. She may also be contacted if you experience any difficulty with the new process, or for assistance with any policy matter related to presumptive eligibility. If you have difficulty with a specific case, you may contact the Presumptive Eligibility Records Unit directly at (609) 588-2210.

Sincerely,

Saul M. Kilstein
