II. Intensive Recovery Treatment Support (IRTS) Program (Suzanne Borys, DMHAS OPREPO)

A. PowerPoint shared with BHPC via mail

B. Q&A

- 1. Q: Equitable access: Is there a way to look at demographics? A: The program is available to everyone. People can self-refer.
  - a. Wondering about racial disparities in sentencing, and impact on admissions to IRTS.
- 2. Q: Availability to County Jails? A:. This is available to State Prison populations but STAR teams do serve consumers being released from County Jails.
- 3. Q: Which figures are self-reported, ex. current use? What constitutes employment? A: We would need to get that info from Program Evaluators.
- 4. Q: Is this available at Edna Mahan? A: Yes. Construction of the new Edna Mahan facility in Burlington County has not yet broken ground.
- 5. Q: Is drug use self-reported? A: We suspect its self-reported, but we would have to check with the program evaluators. Comment, Parole does urine testing, especially if individual has history of drug use.
- 6. Comment: "Would be great to have a peer program similar to this for those reentering the community with MH and forensic background."
- 7. Request: Can there be a similar presentation on SUD prevention efforts at County Jails?

- III. Overview of 2024 DMHAS Adult Consumer Perception of Care Survey (Mark Kruszczynski, DMHAS, OPREPO)
  - A. PowerPoint shared with BHPC via mail
  - B. Q&A
    - 1. Q: What are the reasons why NJ has higher satisfaction rates relative to the US? A: Ultimately unknown. Possibly due to consumer satisfaction with service providers funded by DMHAS.

IV. System Partner Updates (Darlema Bey)

- A. Division of Mental Health and Addiction Services (DMHAS). See above, presentations from Dr. Suzanne Borys (Intensive Recovery Treatment Supports) and Dr. Mark Kruszczynski (2024 DMHAS Consumer Survey)
- B. Children's Systems of Care (Nick Pecht).
  - 1. Intensive Mobile Treatment Services (IMTS) for youth aged 5 to 20 with co-occurring I/DD and behavioral health needs.
    - a. This pilot program has been extended for one year and will continue to serve Bergen and Middlesex Counties through 2025.
    - b. Currently serving 20 youth, IMTS program enhancements include onboarding additional staff to better support the youth and families served and access to flex funding to support individualized needs, including challenges related to the social determinants of health.
    - c. The youth and families served are engaged and connected to services and supports, and the youth are remaining in their families' homes. Each family receives between 10 and 15 hours of intensive in-home services each week by the multidisciplinary team, who focuses on the family's unique needs
- C. Division of Developmental Disabilities (Jonathan Sabin)
  - 1. The DDD Office of Education on Self-Directed Services (OESDS) will begin offering monthly WIN (What I Need) Time virtual forums in January 2025. WIN Time provides a standing opportunity for support coordinators, supports brokers, providers and others to learn and ask questions about self-directed services, and network with other professionals.   - 1. Connecting the Dots: Designing Intervention Referral Pathways and Risk Assessment and Response Protocols to Support Student Mental Health
    - a. 2/21/25 9:00-12:30pm Register here (Registration will go live mid-January).
    - b. Summary: This training session aims to provide an in-depth understanding of how to successfully connect students with internal and external mental health support as part of a comprehensive school mental health system. Participants will gain insight into using data-driven decision-making processes to guide referrals to tiered support and best practices for recognizing and responding to diverse student mental health needs. Participants will learn specific steps for establishing intervention referral pathways, conducting risk assessments, and coordinating responses that engage families and community partners. This session is intended for school administrators, school mental health professionals and supporting school mental health staff and will include both practical guidance and opportunities for interactive application.
    - c. Objectives:
      - Introduce best practices for referring students to services that fit the unique needs of the individual.
      - Introduce risk assessment and response in the context of Comprehensive School Mental Health referral pathways.

- Describe an MTSS Framework and best practices for risk assessment and response.
- Discuss concrete strategies and skills that can be directly applied at the school or district level.
- Participate in discussions and activities aimed at generating reflection and reinforcing knowledge.

- H. Department of Corrections (K. Connelly):
  - 1. NJDOC prioritizes the safety of the incarcerated population, staff, and volunteers. In order to prevent the introduction of drugs into facilities, NJDOC is implementing a mail copying and screening program for all United States Postal mail for each of the nine correctional facilities. All incoming correspondence must be sent to Pigeonly Corrections, a third-party mail vendor. Additional information including addresses is available on the NJDOC website.
  - 2. NJDOC's contracted healthcare vendor Rutgers University Correctional Health Care will begin piloting anger management groups within the restorative housing units in our correctional facilities. This will be in addition to individual mental health treatment, and a patient does not need to be currently receiving mental health treatment to participate in the new anger management groups.
  - 3. Through January 26, 2025, the Visual Art Center of New Jersey in Summit, NJ is featuring "Perceptions Reimagined: Art from the Women at Edna Mahan," an exhibition of work created by incarcerated artists at Edna Mahan Correctional Facility. The women developed these pieces during their coursework with Raritan Valley Community College. The artists are participants in the New Jersey Scholarship and Transformative Education in Prisons program (NJ-STEP), a voluntary program that enables incarcerated persons to earn college credits.
