

Original

njnationalguard

Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst

njnationalguard

Black History Month Profiles: Senior Airman Cortlyn McKinney, 108th Wing

Senior Airman Cortlyn McKinney, with the 108th Wing's Force Support Squadron, recently returned from Operation Capitol Response I in Washington, D.C., where she was on-mission alongside nearly 550 fellow New Jersey Army and Air National Guardsmen and women.

"The celebration of Black History during the month of February is more than just a month out of the year for me," said McKinney. "It is a time to recognize the many contributions and the culture of African Americans. While being in Washington, D.C. these last few weeks, I experienced a lot of emotions given all the historic events that took place there."

"Knowing that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. gave his famous 'I Have a Dream' speech near the Lincoln Memorial, I felt proud to stand in front of that same memorial myself to help defend democracy again decades later," continued McKinney. "I'm grateful for the opportunities I have received while serving as well as being able to represent my community in the Air National Guard, especially during the month of February."

#blackhistorymonth #njnationalguard #nationalguard #usairforce #airnationalguard #airman #108thwing

215w foxy726nan

Thank you for your service us

215w

Reply

ladyinred072003

So proud of you my Sweet Coco. ❤️❤️❤️

215w

1 like

Reply

lalicea40

Go Coco!! 🙏❤️

View insights

Boost post

Liked by  guamnationalguard and 280 others

February 5, 2021

Edit

njnationalguard

"The celebration of Black History during the month of February is more than just a month out of the year for me," said McKinney. "It is a time to recognize the many contributions and the culture of African Americans. While being in Washington, D.C. these last few weeks, I experienced a lot of

njnationalguard

Senior Airman Cortlyn McKinney, with the 108th Wing's Force Support Squadron, recently returned from Operation Capitol Response I in Washington, D.C., where she was on-mission alongside nearly 550 fellow New Jersey Army and Air National Guardsmen and women.

"While being in Washington, D.C. these last few weeks, I experienced a lot of emotions given all the historic events that took place there."

"Knowing that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. gave his famous 'I Have a Dream' speech near the Lincoln Memorial, I felt proud to stand in front of that same memorial myself to help defend democracy again decades later," continued McKinney. "I'm grateful for the opportunities I have received while serving as well as being able to represent my community in the Air National Guard, especially during the month of February."

#njnationalguard #nationalguard #usairforce #airnationalguard #airman #108thwing

The original post may be viewed at <https://nj.gov/military/history/archives/njng-social-media>

Edited · 215w