JUNE 1, 1933.

FILED

JUN 1 - 1933

Thomas A. Mathw
SECRETARY OF STATE

In accordance with the proclamation of His Excellency, The Governor, A. Harry Moore, the Convention met in the Memorial Building, Stacy Park, City of Trenton, on Thursday, the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and three, at eleven o'clock A.M., (Eastern Standard Time).

The Convention was called to order by His Excellency, A. Harry Moore, Governor of the State of New Jersey.

The call of the Convention was read by the Honorable Thomas A. Mathis, Secretary of State, followed by the calling of the roll of delegates.

The Convention then proceeded to the election of a Permanent Chairman. The Honorable Emerson L. Richards, President of the Senate of the State of New Jersey was unanimously chosen Chairman of the Convention.

On taking the Chair Mr. Richards addressed the Convention as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Convention:-

"When we have made a mistake the American people are big enough to admit it. Today we meet to lend New Jersey's sanction to the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. After fifteen years of trial we have concluded almost unanimously that laws will not make us a temperate people. We are about to begin again.

"It is significant that in righting a wrong that we have done to our government and ourselves we should return to this ancient form of popular expression-- the convention. The structure of our government was wrought in the fires of debate in the colonial convention. We return to the convention to expunge from our Constitution a political and moral heresy.

"Our Constitution is only a power of attorney, signed by the people, giving to their representatives limited powers. Laws governing the people have no place in such a document. If, for no other reason, the Eighteenth Amendment should never have been written into our Constitution. Today, not by revolution-- not by bloody strife, but by a determined, clear-thinking and resolved citizenry we strike from that constitution the dangerous adventure which has so nearly wrecked our ship of state.

"It is well that we act in the convention form. Representative councils by whatever name they are called -- legislatures, congresses or Parliament -- are unpopular in the eyes of the peoples of the world. Dictatorships, with their accompanying surrender of legislative power have momentarily captured the popular imagination. It is good, then, for us to remember that in the midst of a multitude of governmental experiments we still possess and exercise the greatest weapon for the correction of the evils of government-- the constitutional convention.

"It is a great honor to preside over this convention. The delegates here assembled represent the leadership, the intellect and the courage of two great political parties joined together in a common cause. The promotion of temperance and the sane regulation of the use of beverages containing alcohol is not a partisan question.

"The recent action of our sister states indicates that within a very brief time the Eighteenth Amendment will have been repealed. We will then face an entirely new set of conditions.

"The evils brought about by the Eighteenth Amendment were too many to recite here -- its revival of intemperance -- the spread of the use of liquor among people who had heretofore been abstainers -- the change in the viewpoint of society toward the consumption of liquor -- the rise of the racketeer -- inevitable corruption of governmental functions -- the loss of prestige of the Federal Government are but some of the grievous damages done to ourselves. Now, the course of destruction may be arrested, but there remains the greater task of reconstruction.

"We have passed through a moral civil war. We have yet to reconcile the participants, bind up the wounds of the contestants, restore the damage to our institutions, and plan for a settled peace.

"The experience of the past will be of slight advantage to us now. The world has moved forward in these fifteen years. The exterior of our civilization has been molded on modernistic lines. The change in transportation with the universal use of the automobile, the participation of women in those forms of social recreation formerly reserved for men, the changed viewpoint concerning the consumption of alcoholic beverages will all operate to surround the dispensation of such beverages with an entirely different atmosphere.

"We have talked about the revival of the old-time saloon. After nearly two months of test we realize that beer did not bring back the saloon, but that it is on the other hand promoting temperance. The modern speak-easy is already deserted. It will not long survive. Undoubtedly, other unexpected and surprising changes in our preconceived notion of how to deal with the new condition awaits us. Careful planning and mutual counsel will be necessary for the adequate solution of the new problem. One mistake we will not make -- the fanaticism of the dries must not be answered by a counter intolerance of the wets.

"Temperance in thought and deed must be our watchword. Respect for the opinion and rights of the minority must be observed. The Eighteenth Amendment failed because it did not respect the principle that morality is not a matter of law, but a matter of eternal justice.

"Before that seat of judgment we all stand to be judged by the way we have used this vindication of the right of the people to govern themselves."

The Convention then proceeded to the election of a Permanent Secretary.

Mr. Oliver F. Van Camp, Secretary of the Senate of New Jersey, was unanimously chosen Secretary.
