

November is National Veterans and Military Families Month

BY Navya Menon, Diversity Unit Intern

National Veterans and Military Families Month is celebrated every November to honor the sacrifice, service, and dedication of veterans and military families. This month-long observance offers a chance to show appreciation for service members and their families who have given invaluable contributions and immense sacrifice to protect and defend the United States of America. November is a time to honor their dedication and resilience, raise awareness about their unique challenges, and encourage ongoing support for their wellbeing

The NJ Department of the Treasury honors and supports the veterans and military family members both inside and outside of the workplace! We appreciate your service.
