2900-0000	Social Media Records	New Record Series	This record series covers public records created and stored via social media services/sites. Records in this series include various forms of content, including text, image(s), and audio/video recording(s).
2900-0001	Social Media Records - Informational Postings	New Record Series	These records include broadcasting and one-way (organization to stakeholder) communications on routine matters.	1 Year
2900-0002	Social Media Records - General Information Exchange	New Record Series	Records in this category include informational postings connected with two-way constituent services/communications. 2900-0004	Social Media Records - Planning, Decision Support And Knowledge Management	New Record Series	Records in this category include content that aids executives and specialized staff (technologists, public information officers, procurement officials, legal advisors, budget analysts, etc.) who render decisions and/or develop plans and rules that guide the actions of the organization. Examples of content could be intra-agency and external discussions and information on governmental programs touching on policy research, constituent sentiment, evolving products/technologies that impact agency operations, procurement, prevailing political trends, changes in societal perspectives, etc. Content may also encompass collaborative communications at idea development and product or service innovations via feedback from individual citizens, organizational actors and various other stakeholders. Note that content in this category may have enduring, historical value. Because of this, Archival Review will be required prior to any disposition action taken on these records. (Use of data migration and trusted digital repository indicated; see General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records) General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records It is common for agencies to use third party social media services and platforms that are publicly facing and that use a variety of electronic storage formats that can evolve rapidly. Also, third party service providers may offer varying levels of quality and storage capacities that could change over time. This can make the underlying storage technologies and service levels for the agency's social media program uncertain and unstable. In this connection, consider the following storage options. a. Implement an archiving tool that allows for the scheduled extraction and migration of social media content to an agency-owned or controlled trusted digital repository. This is the preferred approach. A trusted digital repository enables the agency to store	25 Years

			digital records, including social media records, in formats that assure access, use and analysis of the records for the entire length of their retention periods. This functionality is critical for long-term and permanent records. However, for ease of administration, agencies may wish to include short-term records in these repositories as well. The trusted digital repository can be an agency owned computer storage facility and/or a Cloud-based platform, either of which meets or exceeds the requirements listed in the RMS Cloud storage guidelines (include url). For long-term or permanent storage requirements, the repository should use file formats that are compatible with long-term/permanent storage (include url for Archives' file types). Once records are successfully migrated to the trusted digital repository, the agency may delete the migrated content from the site. b. If the agency's social media site(s) contain records not subject to longer term retention, and the procurement of an archiving tool is not feasible, migrate the records periodically to a trusted digital repository via importation of tested back-ups or through the use of data export/ import applications. Otherwise, copy (cut and paste) content to the repository. This snippet approach is not a best practice but may be used if there are no other options available to the agency. c. If it is not possible to procure an archiving tool, and the agency's records need to be retained for short time frames -- no more than 2 years, consider relying on the platform used by the social media service provider exclusively. Ensure that the provider has back-up/recovery tools in place to guard against data loss, or that there are data import/export applications that can be used to make accessible copies of the records. Test the back-up/recovery tools and export/import applications to ensure that lost or damaged content can be restored.
3000-0000	Electronic Communications Records	New Record Series	This record series covers public records created and stored via electronic messaging systems in formats such as text, chat, instant messages and voice messages. Electronic messaging allows for real time exchange of digital information and for storage of the information for later use. This includes online resources, telecommunications interactions and mobile text messaging for users of mobile devices such as smart phones and tablets, as well as facilities to record and store voice messages.

3000-0001	Electronic Communications Records - General/Routine Information Communications	New Record Series	These records include messaging services for the exchange routine information such as meeting reminders, general questions/answers shared among staff/constituents on technical and operational matters, general inquiries, or requests for the return of a telephone or online call.	Retain until no longer needed for administrative purposes
3000-0002	Electronic Communications Records - Operational Information Exchange	New Record Series	Records in this category augment dialogue among agency staff, service providers and constituents. For instance, chats may serve to enhance information exchange among participants in online meetings and as a customer support channel for an agency contact center. Records produced in this category can include exchanges such as general feedback, question/answer streams, ratings, voting, likes/dislikes, etc. These records may also have secondary uses such as operational research on the effectiveness and efficiency of customer support programs and online service offerings.	3 Years
3000-0003	Electronic Communications Records - Service Transactions	New Record Series	These records connect with an agency's service delivery processes. For example, agencies may use texts and chats to deliver tailored electronic content or private links (links to content directed to a specific individual) in response to document filing or information access requests.	3 Years
3000-0004	Electronic Communications Records - Planning, Decision Support And Knowledge Management	New Record Series	Records in this category include content that aids executives and specialized staff (technologists, public information officers, procurement officials, legal advisors, budget analysts, etc.) who render decisions and/or develop plans and rules that guide the actions of the organization. Examples of content could be intra-agency and external discussions and information on governmental programs touching on policy research, constituent sentiment, evolving products/technologies that impact agency operations, procurement, prevailing political trends, changes in societal perspectives, etc. Content may also encompass collaborative communications at idea development and product or service innovations via feedback from individual citizens, organizational actors and various other stakeholders. Note that content in this	25 Years

Because of this, Archival Review will be required prior to any disposition action taken on these records. (Use of data migration and trusted digital repository indicated; see General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records) General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records It is common for agencies to use third party contractors, including cloud and cellular service providers, for electronic message storage. Also, depending on the nature of the messaging system and service, individual employees may store messages on their agency assigned devices and/or possibly on their own devices. Contractors may offer varying levels of service, quality and storage capacities that could change over time. This can make the underlying storage technologies and service levels for the agency's electronic messaging program uncertain and unstable. Likewise, use of privately owned devices is fraught with complications, ranging from exposure to records loss to challenges with responding to access requests associated with discovery, audits, investigations and Open Public Records (OPRA). a. Given the backdrop above, when addressing storage solutions for electronic messaging, agencies should consider the following policies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Prohibit use of private devices for the exchange of public records (any message dealing with official agency business).</li> <li>• Prohibit or at least strongly discourage use of electronic messaging for public records with retention periods greater than three (3) years or generally, any messaging that involves investigations, audits, the formulation of public policy and/or administration of legal processes such as contracts.</li> <li>• For all electronic messaging contractors, including those who provide voice message recording services, employ contractual provisions that address public records retention and disposition</li> </ul>

(See example language for Cloud-based platforms listed in the RMS Cloud storage guidelines, https://www.nj.gov/treasury/revenue/rms/manual/RMSManual.pdf). b. Choose appropriate storage solutions or mix of solutions. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Trusted Digital Repository (Preferred). Implement a collection tool that allows the agency's centralized information technology and/or records management program to perform scheduled extraction and migration of electronic messages from all sources to an agency-owned or controlled trusted digital repository. A trusted digital repository enables the agency to store digital records, including electronic messages, in formats that assure access, use and analysis of the records for the entire length of their retention periods. The trusted digital repository can be an agency owned computer storage facility and/or a Cloud-based platform, either of which meets or exceeds the requirements listed in the RMS Cloud storage guidelines (State Records Manual, https://www.nj.gov/treasury/revenue/rms/manual/RMSManual.pdf). For long-term or permanent storage requirements, the repository should use file formats that are compatible with long-term/permanent storage (include url for Archives' file types). After records are successfully migrated to the trusted digital repository, the agency may delete the migrated content from the source platform.</li> <li>Centralized Agency Collaboration Platform. Agency collaboration platforms such as Office 365/TEAMS and Google Workspace provide tools that enable agencies to set enterprise, organization-wide retention/disposition policies for messaging streams like chats and other digital communications. Use these tools whenever possible. Also consider moving messaging streams with long-term retention values to a trusted digital repository as described above.</li> <li>Back-ups and Data Export/Import. If the agency's electronic messaging platform contains records with long-term value, and does not accommodate retention/disposition management or collection tools, migrate the content periodically to a trusted digital repository via importation of back-ups or through the use of data</li> </ul>

Examples of content could be intra-agency and external discussions and information on governmental programs touching on policy research, constituent sentiment, evolving products/technologies that impact agency operations, procurement, prevailing political trends, changes in societal perspectives, etc. Content may also encompass collaborative communications at idea development and product or service innovations via feedback from individual citizens, organizational actors and various other stakeholders. Note that content in this category may have enduring, historical value. Because of this, Archival Review will be required prior to any disposition action taken on these records. (Use of data migration and trusted digital repository indicated; see General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records)					P	25 Years		Archival Review

General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records It is common for agencies to use third party social media services and platforms that are publicly facing and that use a variety of electronic storage formats that can evolve rapidly. Also, third party service providers may offer varying levels of quality and storage capacities that could change over time. This can make the underlying storage technologies and service levels for the agency's social media program uncertain and unstable. In this connection, consider the following storage options. a. Implement an archiving tool that allows for the scheduled extraction and migration of social media content to an agency-owned or controlled trusted digital repository. This is the preferred approach. A trusted digital repository enables the agency to store digital records, including social media records, in formats that assure access, use and analysis of the records for the entire length of their retention periods. This functionality is critical for long-term and permanent records. However, for ease of administration, agencies may wish to include short-term records in these repositories as well. The trusted digital repository can be an agency owned computer storage facility and/or a Cloud-based platform, either of which meets or exceeds the requirements listed in the RMS Cloud storage guidelines (include url). For long-term or permanent storage requirements, the repository should use file formats that are compatible with long-term/permanent storage (include url for Archives' file types). Once records are successfully migrated to the trusted digital repository, the agency may delete the migrated content from the site. b. If the agency's social media site(s) contain records not subject to longer term retention, and the procurement of an archiving tool is not feasible, migrate the records periodically to a trusted digital repository via importation of tested back-ups or through the use of data export/ import applications. Otherwise, copy (cut and paste) content to the repository. This snippet approach is not a best practice but may be used if there are no other options available to the agency. c. If it is not possible to procure an archiving tool, and the agency's records need to be retained for short time frames -- no more than 2 years, consider relying on the platform used by the social media service provider exclusively. Ensure that the provider has back-up/recovery tools in place to guard against data loss, or that there are data import/export applications that can be used to make accessible copies of the records. Test the back-up/recovery tools and export/import applications to ensure that lost or damaged content can be restored.

3000-0000	Electronic Communications Records --- This record series covers public records created and stored via electronic messaging systems in formats such as text, chat, instant messages and voice messages. Electronic messaging allows for real time exchange of digital information and for storage of the information for later use. This includes online resources, telecommunications interactions and mobile text messaging for users of mobile devices such as smart phones and tablets, as well as facilities to record and store voice messages.
3000-0001	Electronic Communications Records - General/Routine Information Communications --- These records include messaging services for the exchange routine information such as meeting reminders, general questions/answers shared among staff/constituents on technical and operational matters, general inquiries, or requests for the return of a telephone or online call.				P	Retain Until No Longer Needed For Administrative Purposes.		Destroy
3000-0002	Electronic Communications Records - Operational Information Exchange --- Records in this category augment dialogue among agency staff, service providers and constituents. For instance, chats may serve to enhance information exchange among participants in online meetings and as a customer support channel for an agency contact center. Records produced in this category can include exchanges such as general feedback, question/answer streams, ratings, voting, likes/dislikes, etc. These records may also have secondary uses such as operational research on the effectiveness and efficiency of customer support programs and online service offerings.				P	3 Years		Destroy
3000-0003	Electronic Communications Records - Service Transactions --- These records connect with an agency's service delivery processes. For example, agencies may use texts and chats to deliver tailored electronic content or private links (links to content directed to a specific individual) in response to document filing or information access requests. 3000-0004	Electronic Communications Records - Planning, Decision Support And Knowledge Management --- Records in this category include content that aids executives and specialized staff (technologists, public information officers, procurement officials, legal advisors, budget analysts, etc.) who render decisions and/or develop plans and rules that guide the actions of the organization. Examples of content could be intra-agency and external discussions and information on governmental programs touching on policy research, constituent sentiment, evolving products/technologies that impact agency operations, procurement, prevailing political trends, changes in societal perspectives, etc. Content may also encompass collaborative communications at idea development and product or service innovations via feedback from individual citizens, organizational actors and various other stakeholders. Note that content in this category may have enduring, historical value. Because of this, Archival Review will be required prior to any disposition action taken on these records. (Use of data migration and trusted digital repository indicated; see General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records) General Note on Modes of Storage for Social Media Records It is common for agencies to use third party contractors, including cloud and cellular service providers, for electronic message storage. Also, depending on the nature of the messaging system and service, individual employees may store messages on their agency assigned devices and/or possibly on their own devices. Contractors may offer varying levels of service, quality and storage capacities that could change over time. This can make the underlying storage technologies and service levels for the agency's electronic messaging program uncertain and unstable. Likewise, use of privately owned devices is fraught with complications, ranging from exposure to records loss to challenges with responding to access requests associated with discovery, audits, investigations and Open Public Records (OPRA). a. Given the backdrop above, when addressing storage solutions for electronic messaging, agencies should consider the following policies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Prohibit use of private devices for the exchange of public records (any message dealing with official agency business).</li> </ul>				P	25 Years		Archival Review

• Prohibit or at least strongly discourage use of electronic messaging for public records with retention periods greater than three (3) years or generally, any messaging that involves investigations, audits, the formulation of public policy and/or administration of legal processes such as contracts. • For all electronic messaging contractors, including those who provide voice message recording services, employ contractual provisions that address public records retention and disposition requirements. (See example language for Cloud-based platforms listed in the RMS Cloud storage guidelines, https://www.nj.gov/treasury/revenue/rms/manual/RMSManual.pdf). b. Choose appropriate storage solutions or mix of solutions. • Trusted Digital Repository (Preferred). Implement a collection tool that allows the agency's centralized information technology and/or records management program to perform scheduled extraction and migration of electronic messages from all sources to an agency-owned or controlled trusted digital repository. A trusted digital repository enables the agency to store digital records, including electronic messages, in formats that assure access, use and analysis of the records for the entire length of their retention periods. The trusted digital repository can be an agency owned computer storage facility and/or a Cloud-based platform, either of which meets or exceeds the requirements listed in the RMS Cloud storage guidelines (State Records Manual, https://www.nj.gov/treasury/revenue/rms/manual/RMSManual.pdf). For long-term or permanent storage requirements, the repository should use file formats that are compatible with long-term/permanent storage (include url for Archives' file types). After records are successfully migrated to the trusted digital repository, the agency may delete the migrated content from the source platform. • Centralized Agency Collaboration Platform. Agency collaboration platforms such as Office 365/TEAMS and Google Workspace provide tools that enable agencies to set enterprise, organization-wide retention/disposition policies for messaging streams like chats and other digital communications. Use these tools whenever possible. Also consider moving messaging streams with long-term retention values to a trusted digital repository as described above. • Back-ups and Data Export/Import. If the agency's electronic messaging platform contains records with long-term value, and does not accommodate retention/disposition management or collection tools, migrate the content periodically to a trusted digital repository via importation of back-ups or through the use of data export/ import applications. Be sure to test the back-up/recovery
